SHOCKS FOR HONGKONG

Africa are to be compilthe extremely mented on interesting report they have submitted to Government and It is to be hoped that for the benefit of businessmen seeking to expand trade in this area the full report in Chinese and English is made widely available. Because on the adoption of the mission's recommendations depends the future of our trade with these territories

The mission ran many restrictions and frusaffered apportunities Nigeria and Ghana, local businessmen could have been torgiven for taking little interest in this part of Africa. The one redeeming feature is that many of the territories visited are in a state of flux. Conditions and policies could change rapidly and a followup mission, which is recommended in the report, might open a considerably brighter vista to Hongkong traders in two years time.

detailed study of the report shows that the difficulties are not all of West Africa's making. The point stressed time and again is that Japan is making headway in this area where Hongkong seems to be showing little or no progress, and that much of the trade between this Colony and West Africa is handled by commercial shysters out to cut each other down to the last possible cent.

From this aspect, the report's findings are not only alarming but cry out for remedies. Clearly Government and to some extent local banks. financing this trade can help. The trade mission also advocates a promotion office in Nigeria which is an obvious requirement. But much more depends on the individual Hongkong exporter and manufacturer who can learn a useful lesson on how to conduct business in Africa from the Japanese.

THE trade mission stresses first of all the need to do business on a Letter of Credit basis rather than the ludicrously unreliable terms on which so much of our trade has been conducted in the past. Repeatedly, local 'exporters have been shabbily treated; African importers have been quick to exploit our willing. ness to bargain, and as a result the prices we quote are mercitessly silced. Our men relaliate by cheating on quality. And the thing that suffers is Hongkong's reputation as a manufacturing centre. This we cannot afford.

Other criticisms deal with poor and inadequate packing which results often in annoying damage to goods ordered. And the trade mission hammers home another point that is all too frequently heard, that wrapping and presentation of Hongkong products often leaves much to be desired. The entire report is an indictment. of the way many of our exporters conduct trade with this area. And it poses a serious challenge.

MITHER Hongkong takes Im-Mediate steps to correct these abuses or we can expect a steady dwindling of trade in this area. Oddly enough, one of the potentially rewarding exports lies in the field of inwestment, skilled labour and machinery, particularly for the African enamelware industry. A number of local firms have already started up and there is scope for many more, using their own technical know-how and trained labour.

Because of the importance of Intend to devote further articles to this illuminating Africa specifically many parts of the world with which we trade. And we canreal value in a period of a little more than a month.

CORRUPTION: BROKER JAILED

money District Officer

No. 37700

Abdul Aziz Rumjahn, 56, a broker, was sentenced to three years by Judge W. F. Pickering at the Victoria District Court this morning when he was convicted on three charges of offering money to Mr H. D. Miller, District Officer, Tsun Wan, in connection with conversion of certain lands in the New Territories.

NOT AFFECTED

Britain's increased bank rate had little affect on the local stock market. Prices eased slightly at the opening. this morning but soon steadied.

There is no indication that the local bank rates would be increased as "they are high enough already" said one broker.

Mr Amory explains

London, June 23. Mr Derick Heathcoat Amory, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons today he was arranging for government expenditure for 1961-62 to be held at the level of the present financial year.

The steps he had taken by increasing the bank rate were to maintain the economy in balance and keep off inflation, he said, adding: "The economy today in general is in a very healthy state," Harold Forces and was captured and tortured by the Japanese. Passing sentence, Judge Pickering said this was not an unpremeditated offence but a calculated course of conduct over a period of months aimed at corrupting a Government official, who proved to be incorruptible.

Judge Pickering said he was not going to congratulate Mr Miller for his probity, "because I think that probity is only typical of thousands of honest civil servants."

Three offences . He said he regarded the three charges of corruption in an ascending order of gravity, because the amounts offered had increased on each occasion and also because each subsequent occasion was a further attempt to corrupt Mr Miller.

He sentenced Rumjahn to two years on the first charge of offering $50,000 to Mr Miller; two and a half years on the second charge of offering $80,000; and three years on a third charge of offering 56 cents per square foot in respect of 250,000 square feet of land. The sentences were to run con-

Rumjahn was discharged on a fourth charge of offering $80,-000 to Mr Miller on November 23. Judge Pickering held that there was no direct evidence about the offer other than an extract which Mr Miller read from a diary. The diary was not admitted as evidence.

Corrupt offers

With regard to the other three charges, Judge Pickering said he was satisfied that the inevitable conclusion was that these offers Rumjahn had made were corrupt offers within the meaning of the ordinance. In mitigation. Mr Patrick

Yu, counsel for Rumjahn, said the accused had been in Hongkong all his life. He had a wife and six children. "Rumjahn himself is wellknown in the Colony, especially in the cricket world. He was one of the best captains in the Hongkong team. Of course this has nothing to do with the case," Mr Yu said. "Rumjahn has seen much better days," Mr Yu went on. "He was at one stage at Hongkong University, but his father's business failed, and partly because of this, he never finished the University course. "After the Hongkong University, he entered the business world but was far from being successful. He met with various deputies to assist Canadian setbacks in the business world, investigation and was concerned with cement, of a Chinese immigration timber and other transactions.

Growing challenge to de Gaulle in Algeria

Algiers, June 23. The French Algeria front, one-week-old political organisation aimed at keeping Algeria French, today reported rocketing membership under the stimulus of European disquiet over cease-fire moves.

gets into the play

Alloway, June 3. Prince Philip twice used the word "hell" before teenagers today.

Visiting 300 boys and girls at a summer camp near hear, he: was talking to 17-year-old Dorothy McMillan, in charge of make-up for an outdoor play. "What's the play?" asked his Royal Highness.

"It's called 'The Spartan Girl' " replied Dorothy. "Who plays the Spartan Girl?" he asked. Dorothy pointed to 16-year-old Ann Ballingall. Prince Philip stared at Ann for a moment and then asked: "Is she getting hell for something?" The girls burst into laughter.

"Yes, sir, she certainly is," explained Dorothy. "You' see, she's playing the part of a girl accused of seduction." His Royal Highness moved on to a group of girls from the girl's auxiliary of the church of Scotland. They were weaving baskets - and singing. "What's the singing for?" asked Prince Philip. "Just for the hell of it?" "No," replied Sheena Parker, 17. "it's for atmosphere."-AP.

Mysterious Paris : bombing

Paris, June 23. French police today were investigating the mysterious bombing of the Palace of the Legion of Honour early this morning. No witnesses appeared to have seen the placing of the bomb at the entrance to the Legion museum. The explosion broke gates, windows and furniture and smashed windows of neighbouring apariment houses and parked cars.

General Georges Catroux, Grand Chancellor of the Legion of Honour, who occupies a wing of the palace, went to the scene immediately after the blast but the intruders had fled. There was some speculation that the attack may have been carried out by a clandestine group demonstrating its opposition to the Algerian policy of the government.—AFP.

After nearly four more centuries it now appears in unexpurgated form in English for the first time.

An American, Leona C. Gabel, has edited a one-volume edition, approved by Roman Catholic scholars. Its title: MEMOIRS OF A RENAISSANCE POPE. Translated by Florence A. Gragg (Allen and Unwin, 30s.).

After all those years, it keeps its candid quality.

Glance first at its author's account of a journey he took to Scotland as a young cleric.

Scotland intrigued him. Years later, as Pope, he wrote:--"The common people, who are poor and rude, stuff themselves with meat and fish, but eat bread as a luxury. The men are short and brave; the women fair, charming, and easily won. Women there think less of a kiss than in Italy of the touch of a

Or look at an episode from his life when Pove. In return for a big political concession from the King of France he had decided to make the French Bishop of Arras a cardinal.

Hearing of this, Alain, Cardinal of Avignon, stormed in to see the Pope. And here is how describes' what the Pope followed:-

"Avignon said: 'I hear you mean to make Arras cardinal. He is a heedless, pernicious fellow. He thinks there is nothing he does not know. I foresee continuous warfare with this man if he is given the red

WINESKIN'

When Afras finally became cardinal he did, indeed, make trouble for the Pope. He demanded two rich church livings, which were in the Pope's gift, for his relations. The Pope refused. Later he wrote:-

"Then Arras had recourse to Gallic wiles. He promised Pope 12,000 ducats if he got his body except the eyes, which what he wanted. The Pope kept glancing all about. burst out furiously, 'Go to the devil, you and your threats! And your money go to hell with

New York.

FTER the fanfare at the Fair, the triumph of the Tattoo at Madison Square Garden. At least that's how Brigadier Alastair Maclean, the producer, and Sol Hurok, the famous American impresario,

The British Tattoo is the biggest show ever to be presented at the Garden and with its cast of 550 British troops is about twice the number of performers who appear at the annual circus there.

Sol Hurok, who brought over the Bolshol Ballet to the U.S., told me at the Garden: "This is perhaps the biggest thing I have ever attempted. For eight years I have been trying to get the British Military Tournament and Tattoo over here. They said it was impossible, impracticable. It couldn't be done. But it is being done-for the first time ever.

New word for the New World

"It will be something entirely new for this country and do a whale of a lot of good for both Britain and the U.S." It will also make a lot of money. Mr Hurok never stages flops.

Brigadier Maclean, whom I had met earlier over a drink at the Pierre Hotel, told me; "I am completely satisfied with the way things are going. We are getting more publicity than even the British Exhibition itself.

"All the men are here now—the last lot arrived at midnight the other night. It was quite an airlift and we used Comets and Bri-woman on a sailor's arm-and I have had to tell them." The brigadier has been producing the Edinburgh Tattoo for the past ten years and is obviously the Master of Madison Square. So, while the exhibition, brilliantly opened by Prince Philip recently, rolls along and the Coliseum is jammed day after day, we follow with this tremendous tattoo. The Americans are grateful, This British activity has come at a time when there are "Hate America" campaigns in Japan, Red China, and the Soviet Union. The people who want so much to be loved find themselves scorned and abused. The President's trip to the Orient was called here "Operation Nightmare," And since ex-President Truman called for prayers for Mr Eisenhower's safety there were services in churches, chapels, and synagogues right across the country.

Rocky could rock them

It is a lively, worrying summer here. Outwardly, the city looks well with huge flowerpots along Fifth and Madison Avenues. The trees in Central Park are in full bloom, the restaurants and bars are crowded day after day. The weather has been ideal with the sun beating down on the barebacked, daringly dressed women, the sweating cope, the beatniks with the Tony Curtis hair-do, the men wearing Britishstyle boaters, and the cursing taxi drivers. All the leading Presidential candidates have now established headquatrers in Manhattan.

> The big story now is the continuing farce duel between Vice-President Richard Nixon, now a sort of Acting President in Eisenhower's absence, and Govetnor Nelson Rockefeller.

I was in the R.C.A. studio the other night watching him perform. Rockefeller is a television "natural." Fluent and erudite, he also has the grin which seems indispensable to an American politician. He can hardly call himself a Republican when he is running on a ticket more Left than that of IKE - PRAYERS either Adlai Stevenson of

. WERE SAID Jack Kennedy. The trouble with Rockefeller is that he has said so many things so many times, "Now I am running for President, now I'm not. Now I'm a candidate, now I'm not." The truth is, of course, he has a deep, intense longing for the job in the White House, great apprehension about the way the country is being run, and a low regard for Richard Nixon.

Nixon outshone Rockefeller at the British Exhibition-he spoke with much more pungency and wit and handled the crowds better (Prince Philip outshone them both), but Rockefeller has come back strongly in the past two days with effective television appearances. He could split the Republican Party right down the middle in his demands for a more Imaginative foreign and domestic policy and his scathing indictment of Nixon. It could hardly be a more mixed-up election. The Texan Senator, Lyndon Johnson, a leading Democrat, is acting more like a Republican and defender of President Eisenhower's record.

Mr K won't be here again

Young Kennedy remains in front now and the "Stop Kennedy" movement organised by Johnson, Symington and, to some extent, Stevenson is disorganised. Wisely, Kennedy's father is keeping out of the headlines, although he is supposed to be bank-rolling his son, The religious issue, which looked like being a bonfire, has been doused since Khrushchev's vituperative remarks about President Eisenhower. What is blazing in American minds is, "Who is best fitted to handle, outsmart, outmanoeuvre, and, if necessary, defy Khrushchev?"

Kennedy, the youthful prodigy, does not look the part to millions of people here. Nixion, after the kitchen debate in Moscow, in which he swapped verbal punches, looked better equipped.

At the moment it doesn't matter whether a man is a Protestant, a Baptist, a Methodist, a Holy-roller or a Roman Catholic as long as he can face up to Khrushchev - excepting only Jewish United States citizens or coloured United States citizens.

Even if there were supermen among them, they have no chance for the Presidency whatsoever. Nor will they have in this century.

I don't think Mr Khrushchev realises what bitterness he has built against himself in the United States. He could never come here again. The wounds are too deep.

The lights go up on Broadway

The lights went on again outside and inside the Broadway theatres recently as the strike collapsed ignominiously. Both producers and actors realised that they were not indispensable. Both sides got scared,

They were told plainly by the newspapers and the radio and TV commentators that, although the theatre was very nice and stage people were gifted mummers. New York could get along without them. So they trooped back to work and three

Broadway productions. The Andersonville Trial, Duel of Angels, and Finian's Rainbow, folded. Mary Martin and Anne Bancroft still went on acting during the blackout. Miss Martin went through the entire show of The Sound of Music for the Australian Prime Minister, Mr Menzies, and his wife, at her home. And Miss Bancroft went to the theatre every night, anyway, and played her role in The Miracle Worker on a darkened stage before an empty theatre.

DISMAL TEST CRICKET AT LORD'S

Dexter, Subba Row help England put up 114 for two after early shocks

London, June 23.

South Africa: D. J. McGlew,

Bowling to date

The throwing controversy in cricket was well spotlighted by English umpire Frank Lee today when he no-balled Geoff Griffin, 21-year-old South African, five times for the offence during the first day's play in the second Test between England and South Africa here.

The Griffin incident added to a gloomy day's cricket which was interrupted five times by bad light and rain after a thunderstorm had delayed the start for 45 minutes. Together three and a quarter hours of play was lost during the day.

Only a splendid iraings of 56 by Ted Dexter, who helped Subba Row but on 96 for the second wicket after Colin Cowdrey, had been caught off Griffin with seven scored, relieved the depression.

At the close, taken early because of rain, England, who won the toss, and are one up in the series, were 114 for two wickets.

Unprecedented

Ize, who had been the first to call Griffin for throwing on the present tour, is the sixth English umpire to object to the South African's action. Griffin has now been no-balled 22 times on the tour and he is the first player to be called for the offence in a Test match in England, Previously only two players had been no-balled for throwing in Test matches. In 1898, Ernest Jones, the Australian, was called in a Test at Melbourne-against England, and in 1954, Tony Lock, England spinner, was no-balled in the first Test against West Indies in Jamaica.

Many critics are of the opinion that Griffin operates consistently with a throwing

HARD AND SANDRA DARLENE REYNOLDS SLITHER INTO LAST WOMEN'S SINGLES

Mackay, Fraser through in men's singles

London, June 23.

Heatwave conditions which marked the first three days of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships gave way to intermittent showers today, forcing three hold-ups in the first two and a half hours.

The courts became more slippery at each stoppage and players slithered and floundered on the sodden grass. It was a frustrating day for players, apart from the crowd, which was probably the largest so far this week.

Darlene Hard, of California, and Sandra Reynolds, of South Africa, were the first among the seeded women players to enter the last 16.

Embarrassing

Miss Hard, 24-year-old runner-up last year, beat 16-yearold English schoolgirl Frances Walton 6-1, 6-0, and Miss Reynolds, semi-finalist a year ago, scored a surprisingly easy 6-1, 6-2, victory over British Wightman Cup player Mrs Shirley Brasher, wife of Olympic steeplechaser Chris Brasher.

When the first interruption through the rain occurred, Miss Hard misunderstood a public announcement about resumption of play, and could have been in danger of forfeiting the match. She went off to the players' restaurant, arriving back on court 15 minutes after the match should have restarted.

Miss Hard's young opponent, who arrived at Wimbledon with copies of Macbeth and Chaucer under her armshe got permission from her school to play only on condiof those embarrassing moments on court which every girl dreads.

Big-service match

The match had just started when Miss Walton's shoulderstrap broke. #### Fiercest critics

On Sundays all the family go to the stadium to watch him play, and his brothers, who play for minor teams, are his flercest critics when he gets home from the match, "One told me that if MTK (a rival team) beat Albert's work as a fledgling Ferencyaros (Albert's club), he would give up coming to watch me in disgust," he told me with a laugh.

He joined Ferencearos, leading Budapest club, in 1953. Like all aspiring young Hungarian footballers, he moves steadily up from a "Pioneer" team for 12 to 14-year-olds to from football is a long way off a place in the senior team. for Albert, still hardly old Ferenevares fields four "Pion-"C" team, a "B" team and a > Ferencyaros "A" team in the autumn of 1958, scoring two goals in his first match. With part of this season still to be completed, he had scored 22 goals in Hungarian league football in 1959-60 and was second in goal-scoring, behind Lajos Tichy, a brilliant forward from Budapest's Honved club whom Albert described as "a very great goal scorer."

> On his 16th birthday, Albert took the field for Hungary's youth team and played in 16 youth internationals before moving direct to his present place in Hungary's senior team last year.

In his seven full international matches, he has secred seven goals, and a further five goals in four Olympic elimination round matches.

Teetotaller

Albert's special friends in the Hungarian team are Gyula Rakosi, a 22-year-old Ferencvaros forward, who won his first international cap this year against England by filling Hungary's problem spot at outsideleft, and 21-year-old Jozsef Goercees, the inside-right from the rival Ujpesti Dozsa club, the current Hungarian league champions, Football is now Albert's only sport. Before he left school last year, he also played handball and basketball, but has since given up these games.

He trains three or four times a week, except before an international match when the training programme is increased. Like all first class Hungarian footballers, he gets plenty of time off from work to train.

To relax, he enjoys going to the cinema or listening to music, especially dance music. But dancing itself is a rare luxury for him, he says. He likes girls, but has no steady girl friend,

"I have several girl friends," he said. Then he added bashfully, lest anyone should think him a Don Juan, "I met most of them at school."

He neither drinks nor smokes but enjoys good food. His greatest feat, off the football field, was to cat 14 cream puffs at a sitting for a bet-when his trainer was safely out of sight. -China Mail Special.

In addition, Wong admitted he could not remember definitely if he had been a customer at the shops concerned, the Judge said. For a man who obviously did not buy a suit every week; it seemed a little strange that he could not remember whether or not he had been to a particular tailor's shop.

Judge Cons said of Wong: He was a patently untruthful and unreliable witness." Your correspondent "Puzzled" not letting sleeping dogs lie since the Football Pools Bill has been well and truly beaten. However, some of the facts he stated and some of the figures he gave, cast a new light on the whole iscue and, I predict, will be the spark that will ignite the whole controversy

Personally, I am surprised that the climactic decision of the Legislative Council on June 1, should have been allowed to rest as It did.

During the heat of the debate on the Football Pools all through May, I have been, as many others of your readers, more or less on the fence. The establishment of the Pools would not have been an important event to me; I am still unconcerned over what has actually come

But looking back, I recall the surprise I received after reading what occurred during the deliberations of the Legislative Council members on June 1. The thing that struck me was that (a) the Official Members should have taken, what I regarded as a cowardly stand on the voting by abstaining en bloc; (b) that the decision was allowed to be made on the puerile arguments advanced by the two or three speake's against the Bill, all of which were on moral grounds; and (c), by the shocking display of irresponsibility of the government officials who in the first place proposed the

Their complete passive regard on the issue as reported in the newspapers, conveyed the impression that there has been some monstrous lack of liaison between the government and the Legislative Council members to the extent that one was not aware of what the other was doing and all were not, apparently, of any mind of what they really wanted!

The remark made by your correspondent Puzzled that confusing indeed. And if Puzzled has got his

Even more pustling still, that this furious attack on the Pools Bill should have started up as late as late April - more than four months after we were told that the Pools would legalised. Again, I ask,

Furthermore, as Puszled so squarely pointed out the mystery deepens when it is revealed now that Legislative Council members in their major, numbers, were perfectly aware of the additional funds asked for and approved for the Post Office to prepare for the coming of the Pools mail.

as we are told, that the final rejection of the Pools Bill is the result of Kalfong disapproval, why then did the Kaifongs not even offer the smallest comment on the issue until a few weeks before the date of decision? And, if it is true that the Kalfongs were responsible for

A vacancy on the Legislative Council will occur shortly because of the departure on leave of Mr H. D. M. Barton, who has been re-appointed for a further term of office on the recommendation of the Unofficial Justices of the Peace.

A notice published in the Government Gazette today invites Unofficial Justices of the Peace to nominate one or more of their number to be considered for provisional appointment to the Legislative Council during Mr Barton's absence from the Colony.
